Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) Workshop at Vanderbilt University

► A Parent’s Journey with AAC | Friday, March 26, 2010 | 6-7:30 p.m.
Mayborn Room 204, Peabody College
Keynote Speaker: Robert Rummel-Hudson
Author of Schuyler’s Monster: A Father’s Journey with His Wordless Daughter

Open to everyone. No fee. Registration required. May attend presentation without attending Saturday’s Workshop.

► We Dance, We Sing, We Do All Kinds of Things | Using Assistive Technology with Young Children with Multiple Disabilities | Saturday, March 27 | 9 a.m-4:30 p.m.
Room 8380 Medical Center East, South Tower, Vanderbilt Bill Wilkerson Center
Karen Casey, M.S., CCC-SLP (over 25 years of experience with assistive technology)

This workshop will cover a wide range of strategies and easy-to-use communication systems, including low to high assistive technology options, designed to increase communication opportunities for children with multiple disabilities.

For speech-language pathologists, special educators, other professionals in related fields, students, parents, and family members. May attend workshop without attending Friday’s presentation.

This workshop will be offered for .6 ASHA CEU’s (intermediate level; professional area).

Early Bird Registration (by March 15): $175 professionals, $50 students/parents, Additional $25 for late registration. Workshop fee includes: lunch/breaks, two CDs of instructional resources, and make-and-take materials.

► For more information and to register for one/both event(s)
Register at kc.vanderbilt.edu/registration, select Augmentative and Alternative Communication Workshop. For information call (615) 322-8240.

---

Sponsored by:
- Low Incidence Disabilities Program Area—Department of Special Education, Peabody College
- Vanderbilt Bill Wilkerson Center—Department of Hearing and Speech Sciences
- Vanderbilt Kennedy University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities
- Prentke Romich Company (PRC)